A poem by Mrs Robinson's class (one line each)

I saw...

I saw waves crashing together.
I saw leaves falling from branches.
I saw the river picking up logs and twigs.
I saw leaves all over the floor.
I saw the sun shining on the sparkly river.
I saw the snow.
I saw the rain.
I saw the river catching up with the sea.
I spied a cat meowing, as he chased the mouse.
I saw the river rushing down the weir.
I saw trees swaying in the wind.
I saw the sun.
I saw the clouds.
I saw a statue stare at me.
I saw a dog barking for it's food.
I saw the river.
I heard the wind.
I saw mud squelching on the path.
I saw gulls hanging in the air.
I saw berries falling on the ground.
I saw glittery water rushing to the beach.
I saw the glare through the leaves on the trees.
I saw light from the full moon.
I saw squashed berries on the pavement.
I saw a horse biting my bottom!
I saw waves heading towards shore.
I saw the river swishing down to the sea.
I saw the river flowing.
